Black Isle Brewery

Founded by David Gladwin in 1998, Black Isle Brewing Company, located to the north of Inverness, in the wild and beautiful Scottish Highlands, is the only 100% organic brewery in Scotland. Black Isle's motto is "Drink Organic, Save the Planet"

Fresh, natural, organic craft beers, brewed with skill and passion in the Scottish Highlands.

David et Michael Gladwin, organic brewers par excellence.

"We have always thought that wherever you find quality craft beers, there should always be an organic selection". See some video clips of our Core Range at www.suissecosse.ch "Nos bières » Nos brasseries » Black Isle Organic".

Traquair House Brewery

Who could ever imagine finding a centuries old brewery intact in the basement of an historic mansion near the border between Scotland and England? Resurrected in the 1960s by Peter Maxwell Stuart, the 20th Laird, Traquair House Brewery has a pedigree like no other.

The Laird's Ales, beers with pedigree, brewed with skill, passion and noble tradition in the Scottish Borders

Today Catherine Constable Maxwell Stuart, the 21st Lady of Traquair, manages this most aristocratic of early microbreweries, located in Traquair House, Scotland's oldest continually inhabited great country house.

Our Organic Beers in KeyKegs

The KeyKeg system protects the beer, facilitates its transportation and prolongs its life cycle. The technology also guarantees optimal protection during filling, loading, transport and storage.

Storage conditions in our depot, a former wine cellar, are ideally suited for looking after beers – constant low temperatures, no air currents, and no direct sunlight.
